2011 SCHEDULE

JUNE 5 - The Otone Brass Band

The Otone Brass Band mixes it up with a generous supply of funk, Latin, soul, and New Orleans groove. This eight-piece group of seasoned pros and young, new talents is led by Dan Sjogren.

JUNE 12 - Hazel Miller

The legendary Hazel Miller sings blues, jazz, pop, and gospel with a primal dose of genuine soul.

Sponsored by The Denver Museum of Nature and Science

JUNE 19 (Father's Day) - Rekha Ohal

Rekha lists her influences as "Rickie Lee Jones, Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Tom Waits, and chocolate," and she describes her sound as "Steely Dan stuck in a New Delhi train station."

JUNE 26 - La Candela

La Candela is one of Denver's premier Salsa bands. This 10-person band is led by the talented Suzanna Morales.

Sponsored by The City Park Jazz Vendors

JULY 3 - Denver Municipal Band

Come celebrate our Nation's Independence Day with the Denver Municipal Band, the oldest professional concert band in the continental United States.

JULY 10 - Convergence

Convergence shares the intimacy and the spark of improvised music with their audience. They have been creating music together for over 20 years. Sponsored by The Sawaya Law Firm

JULY 17 - The Bob Montgomery/Al Herman Quintet

This quintet improvises in a very unique manner, utilizing three and four part harmony (trumpet, trombone, guitar, bass and drums) within the melodies of the tunes.

JULY 24 - The Manuel Lopez Trio Featuring Maria Lopez

Featuring Maria Lopez, this jazz trio plays a variety of songs from old Cuban standards to more modern arrangements.

JULY 31 - The Metropolitan Jazz Orchestra

This eight-piece "big band" features many of Denver's finest jazz musicians. The MJO performs toe-tapping, finger-snapping big band hits of the '40s and '50s, as well as present-day favorites.

AUGUST 7 - Chris Daniels & The Kings

One of the world's best horn bands, Chris Daniels & The Kings have performed around the U.S. and Europe. Described as "Little Feat with horns," they play soul and roots music, perfect for dancing.

Sundays from 6 – 8 p.m.

CELEBRATING 25 YEARS OF JAZZ IN DENVER'S CITY PARK

The City Park Jazz Summer Concert Series was inspired by a historic Denver tradition. More than 130 years ago, residents strolled around Ferril Lake dressed in their Sunday best, picnicking on the lawn while listening to live music. The current series began as a handful of jazz concerts in 1986. Each year since, thousands of fans of all ages and backgrounds (over 70,000 attendees in 2010!) come together to enjoy the special blend of music, nature and community. This FREE concert series is supported by hard-working volunteers and generous donations from individuals and corporate sponsors.

Free parking is available throughout the park—please be a good neighbor and avoid parking on side-streets around the park. Or better yet, ride your bike and enjoy free bike parking monitored by City Park Jazz volunteers at the Bike Corral next to the Pavilion from 4 p.m. until a half hour after the concert ends.
